OVERVIEW

The Intensive Outpatient Substance Abuse Program (IOSAP) is designed to meet the needs of youth who suffer from substance abuse and whose level of care needs are more intensive than general outpatient counseling but do not require a residential level of care. The IOSAP is a strengths-based approach to the treatment of juveniles who have histories of moderate to severe substance use/abuse.

The goal of the IOSAP is to help the juveniles become substance-free, maintain sober and drug-free lifestyles, develop new thought and behavior processes and institute positive and self-reinforcing behavior. This service provides treatment interventions to address the youth's substance abuse, dependence or addiction. The length of a youth's participation in the IOSAP may vary depending on a juvenile's accomplishments in the program and specific conditions of probation.

Service delivery contact hours must be adequate to address the needs of the juvenile and family. The program provides services at least two (2) times a week in a therapeutic group setting supplemented by family and/or individual counseling depending on the initial level of care needs and issues that are documented on the youth's treatment/service plan.
